

ACHA Regional Development Leader: Midwest

The Adult Congenital Heart Association (ACHA) is a rapidly growing national patient advocacy organization that engages patients, caregivers, family members, healthcare providers, elected officials and other key constituents in activities to improve and extend the lives of the millions born with heart defects through education, advocacy and research.

ACHA seeks a highly organized, experienced, and passionate Regional Development Leader (RDL) who will develop and lead fundraising, awareness and outreach, and patient education initiatives within the Midwest region. Based in Omaha, NE, the RDL will oversee activities in Nebraska, Kansas, Oklahoma, Iowa and Missouri. This position will implement ACHA's strategic vision in their assigned markets and will cultivate meaningful relationships with local funders, corporate partners, donors, patients, providers, and advocates. This is an excellent opportunity to invest your skills in a highly-respected organization, and help ACHA address the unmet needs of those living with this country's most common birth defect.   - b. Lead the ACHA Walk for 1 in 100 in Omaha event planning and volunteer committee recruitment and management. Cultivate relationships with sponsors, team captains, volunteers, and participants to grow the event annually
  - c. Identify new markets within the region to establish future ACHA Walk for 1 in 100 events.
  - d. Evaluate opportunities to establish ACHA fundraising receptions and/or other new events in the region.
  - e. Research and apply for local grant funding and corporate partnership opportunities.
2. Increase community outreach and general awareness of congenital heart disease (CHD) and ACHA throughout the region to increase ACHA constituent base (members, donors, volunteers, etc.).
  - a. Promote ACHA's goals and objectives to develop grassroots support within the community by, acting as a spokesperson for the organization at community events, establishing a relationship with the region's adult congenital heart disease (ACHD) medical programs, Patient and Family Advisory Boards (PFABs) associated with the region's hospitals, and pediatric CHD transition programs, and establishing contacts with general medical practitioners in the region.

- b. Identify opportunities for cross-branding and cross-marketing with the region's adult congenital heart disease (ACHD) medical program(s), other CHD nonprofit groups, other health organizations, etc.
  - c. Recruit, cultivate, evaluate and acknowledge a growing corps of volunteers throughout the region to serve as ambassadors of the organization and activists for our priority initiatives.
  - d. Collaborate with the ACHA Patient & Family Advisory Board regional representative(s) and local members of the ACHA Board of Directors (BOD) and Medical Advisory Board (MAB) to plan and lead regional initiatives.
  - e. Lead the Omaha market as a pilot site for a grassroots awareness campaign developed and overseen by ACHA's Diversity, Equity, and Inclusion (DEI) Committee.
  - f. Establish ties with local media to broaden awareness.
3. Increase active ACHA membership, donors, and volunteers in the region.
    - a. Survey the region's CHD community to understand unmet needs of patients.
    - b. Form and facilitate patient opportunities that provide appropriate healthcare information, emotional support, and/or networking opportunities.
    - c. Serve as local liaison to assist national program staff within various program activities and events, such as regional patient conference, legislative advocacy outreach, lifelong care speaking engagements, etc.
