About the Presenters:
Meredith Kalbacker is a licensed clinical social worker at the Mount Sinai Adult Congenital Heart Disease (ACHD) Center in New York City. She has been practicing medical social work for more than eight years supporting patients with complex medical, social and mental health needs. As the ACHD social worker, Meredith provides emotional support, psychoeducation and connects patients to appropriate resources in the community. Meredith runs an ACHD Support Group and is an integral part of the ACHD interdisciplinary team to help patients successfully transition from pediatric to adult congenital heart disease care.

Alice Chan is a member of the ACHA Medical Advisory Board. She serves as the Clinical Program Manager for the ACHD Center at Mount Sinai Hospital. She has her Doctorate in Nursing Practice (DNP), MSN, BSN, and a BA in Biological Sciences with a minor in Psychology. Dr. Chan has more than 12 years of experience in healthcare and is an experienced provider that specializes in ACHD patient care since 2015. Dr. Chan is an Adjunct Professor/Clinical Instructor for the Philips School of Nursing at Mount Sinai Beth Israel.

About the Adult Congenital Heart Association
The Adult Congenital Heart Association (ACHA) is a national not-for-profit organization dedicated to supporting individuals and families living with congenital heart disease and advancing the care and treatment available to our community. ACHA empowers the more than nearly 2 million adults with CHD, their families, and the medical community by advancing access to resources and specialized care that improve patient-centered outcomes. For more information about ACHA, contact (888) 921-ACHA or visit www.achaheart.org.
